

MACAROGENE - Study Spondylarthritis in the Macaronesian Archipelagos - Genetics of the HLA System and its contribution to clinical research and anthropological study of the populations.

(Ref. MAC/2.3/A6)

Characterization:

The study was aimed at a general characterization of patients with Spondylarthritis identification of genes and haplotypes of the HLA System in the populations under study, allowing a more detailed knowledge of their frequencies.